SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Calm and composed, Caryl Chessman went to a small prison waiting cell Sunday, starting a suspenseful all-night vigil next to San Quentin's gas chamber. The hour set for his ninth date with death is 10 a.m., Pacific Daylight Time Monday.

Menderes Plans Use Of Arms To Halt Disorders

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Premier Adnan Menderes declared Sunday night he is determined to put an end to any further demonstrations against his government. An army communique warned that arms would be used to back him up.

Istanbul was under a 24-hour curfew. Troops guarded the city in which foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are meeting Monday for a periodic review of Western defenses against Communist aggression.

Menderes' statement was broadcast by the government-controlled national radio and followed another strong warning against disorder issued by the military commander of Istanbul. Both implied that army troops were prepared to use arms to put down any further antigovernment demonstrations.

The 61-year-old Premier said: "I will put an end to situations in which unrest, riots and street scenes are staged in this country. We have called upon those elements which staged demonstrations last week to comply with laws forbidding further outbreaks. I don't know whether they will comply, but we are determined to put an end to the whole idea."

Menderes claimed the opposition Republican people's party incited last week's student riots in Istanbul, Ankara and Izmir "because the opposition is jealous of my achievements."

He charged the opposition intended to draw maximum attention from foreign newsmen in Turkey for the NATO meeting.

"Their chances of winning a new election are nil," he said, "so they embarked on a nefarious policy of inciting some 3,000 to 4,000 students, taken to the streets at a time when a major international conference was about to take place in Istanbul. The opposition aims to dictate its will to the people and the government. The name for their policy is rebellion."

request to stay Chessman's death while petitioners circulate to put abolition of the death penalty on the November ballot would be an abuse of his power and violation of his conscience. "The matter is in the hands of the state supreme court," he insisted.

He turned down A.L. Wirin, American Civil Liberties Union attorney who flew from Los Angeles to plead that Chessman should be reprieved until a new supreme court justice takes the bench June 1, after which a new appeal might receive a change of vote which three times has turned Chessman down.

Brown, also considered a telephoned appeal, lasting an hour, from Chessman's chief attorney, George T. Davis, in San Francisco.

Writ Sought

Davis argued that three sections of the state penal code require the governor to grant a reprieve because none of Chessman's many applications for clemency has been referred to the State Adult Authority, as required by these same sections, along with all papers and documents for and against the applications.

Davis then announced he would file a supplemental application with the State Supreme Court in San Francisco asking for a writ of mandate to the governor in the Chessman case.

"Come and see the writ," he said, when asked what he would ask the court to order Brown to do.

But Brown told newsmen he rejected Davis' argument, telling him that the sections he quoted were permissive, not mandatory.

He said he told Davis that if the Supreme Court turns Chessman down Monday he will not grant another stay, that any of the seven justices can do so and he felt it is their province, not his.

"If the court refuses him tomorrow, that will end it," Brown said.

Chessman's new petition, asserting innocence, was filed Saturday and asked delay in the execution until attorney general's investigators could find three men Chessman declared could prove he was not the 1948 "Red Light Bandit" of Los Angeles' lanes.

Look For Trio

The attorney general's office said agents were looking around the clock for the three men.

As Chessman was moved late Sunday to his waiting cell, he showed few signs of this turmoil. This was the second time Chessman has been in the holding room. The other time was Feb. 18, Gov. Brown halted all executions for 60 days.

Two guards were assigned to be with him through the night. Warden Fred Dickson and two associate wardens, Louis S. Nelson and Walter D. Achuff, planned to visit with him as long as he might want them.

Chessman could tune in a radio for any news developments on his case.

Chessman, 38, was convicted of the January 1948 kidnapping and sexual abuse of two Los Angeles women. He was given a death sentence for each of the two offenses, among a series of crimes by a red-light bandit who used an automobile spotlight to give the impression of a police squad car.

George T. Davis, one of Chessman's attorneys, bitterly protested when told the Supreme Court would not act until Monday morning. The court first set the hour for 9 a.m. and then advanced it to 8 a.m.

"I feel that for the court to wait until 9 a.m. Monday is the quintessence of cruel and unusual punishment."

Police Sgt. Roy Carlyle said the girl apparently "just decided to go along with the act" when police suggested she might be Lana Turner's daughter.

Cheryl, 16, and two other teenagers fled from a county-operated home for girls in Sylmar, Calif., Friday night. She had been placed in the minimum-security El Retiro Home for Girls six weeks ago for what her actress mother termed psychiatric therapy.

Two years ago the slender teenager fatally stabbed Miss Turner's hoodlum lover, Johnny Stompanato, in the actress' bedroom. A coroner's jury decided the slaying was justifiable homicide after Miss Turner said Stompanato threatened her, Cheryl and Miss Turner's mother.

Joseph Kozare, 51, appeared to have stumbled on the tracks and was trying to get out of the train's path when hit, said engineer Harold R. Brown, 63, of Lehigh, Pa.

He said his train was going about 55 miles an hour when the accident happened. The train was bound from New York to Lehigh.

The report by Dr. Haber ruled out the possibility of a plea that Whitney was insane at the time Mrs. Selby was shot in the head and her body dragged into woods near Jupiter, 20 miles north of West Palm Beach.

Defense attorney Charles A. Nugent said he would enter a plea of innocent to first-degree murder.

Phil O'Connell, veteran state attorney, will demand the death penalty for Whitney, who admitted shooting seven persons to death in California, Arizona and Florida and declared "I just don't give a damn."

Rockefeller Draft Remote

(By The Associated Press)

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Sunday the possibility of a draft would be started for him at the Republican National Convention is so remote it is not worth speculating about.

And he said it "would be fantastic" to suppose that the Democrats might seek him as their candidate to oppose Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Although Rockefeller shrugged off any possibility of running on either ticket, he refused to say whom he favors for the presidency.

He wouldn't put in a plug for Nixon when asked who he would like to see become the next president.

Rockefeller was in Chicago for a convocation address at the University of Chicago's new law center.

Nixon also was in Chicago for a speech but the two men had no plans to meet.

Responding to a Democratic challenge, Nixon said he has no intention of divorcing himself from the record of the Eisenhower administration.

Saying the Democratic policy hasn't changed since Harry S. Truman was president, Nixon said "the Truman record is one with which any Democratic candidate will be saddled. And I'd be happy to run on an Eisenhower versus Truman record."

Nixon talked about a new farm program to replace one which he said "everyone agrees is wrong."

"We must break away from what we have. We need a new approach agreeable to the farmer and to the nation as a whole."

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) insisted again he is serious candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination but added he would settle for the vice-presidential spot.

Appearing on a TV program—NBC's "Meet the Press"—he predicted once more that he will go to the party's July convention with around 100 delegates. Winning the nomination will require 761 votes.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky) the Republican national chairman, said there may be a "pretty hot" contest for the GOP vice-presidential nomination.

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG — Monroe County motorists last year apparently were a little more safety inclined—or at least that would seem to be the indication judging from accident reports of motorists in the county.

A check by The Daily Record's Harrisburg Bureau into State Bureau of Highway Safety records yesterday revealed that the number of motor vehicle accidents occurring in the county last year showed a drop from the preceding year.

The Harrisburg Bureau of Highway Safety records revealed that the number of motor vehicle accidents occurring in the county last year showed a drop from the preceding year.

For example the tabulation of the extensive records—just completed by the bureau—shows that last year 796 accidents were reported within Monroe County—which compares with 822 in 1958 and 860 in 1957.

On the fatality side, the record shows that the number of persons killed in these accidents climbed from 15 to 17, while total injuries of all kinds resulting from accidents within the county dropped from 598 to 563.

On another front, 439 of last year's accidents in the county involved property damage with damages for the year totaling $435,000—as compared with 480 accidents and damages of $425,600 in 1958.

Looking at the picture another way, 532 accidents took place in the rural areas of Monroe County. Of these 532 accidents, 13 were classified as fatal accidents. Rural sections also accounted for 251 injury accidents and 268 property damage accidents.

Urban areas of the county accounted for three fatal accidents, 90 injury and 171 property damage accidents.

Dems Ready To Battle Eisenhower

(By The Associated Press)

THIS will be a week full of presidential primaries. And it will be a week in which to watch for more signs of a brewing election-year battle between President Eisenhower and the Democratic Congress.

Democratic leaders already have sent word to Eisenhower that even the nearness of this month's summit conference will not deter them from striking back if he tries to tie a do-nothing tag on Congress.

The President will speak briefly Monday at a luncheon of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. At 9:30 p. m. EST he will make a major foreign policy address—to be broadcast on radio and TV—at a dinner sponsored by the Committee for International Economic Growth and the Committee to Strengthen the Frontiers of Freedom.

He was a member of Salem United Church of Christ, Reformed wing, Gilbert. He was employed at the Keystone Lamp Factory, Slatkovich, and was a member of an Allentown unit of the National Guard.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a twin brother, Alvin Dreisbach Jr., Lehigh, and a sister Ruth Dreisbach, of Middletown, N.Y.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 11 a.m. at Christ Reformed Church Chapel, Bethlehem, with Rev. H. A. Welch officiating.

Interment will be in Memorial Cemetery, Bethlehem.

There will be no viewing. However, friends may call at the D. A. Hunsicker Funeral Home, Bethlehem, Tuesday after 7 p.m.

William Dreisbach Dies At Trachsville

TRACHSVILLE—Two men were burned, one fatally, in a car-truck collision at 11:50 p.m. Saturday, on Route 209 opposite the Trachsville Fire Co., Lehigh State Police reported yesterday.

Fatally burned was William Dreisbach, 21, of Kunkletown RD 2, who, police reported, was driving east on Route 209 when his car swerved into the left lane of the road, police said. The truck then moved to its left to avoid a collision when the Dreisbach auto then swerved back again and struck the truck between the cab and body.

Gas Catches Fire

The impact of the car hitting the truck caused the two saddle gas tanks on the truck to burst, spilling gasoline over the car which burst into flame.

Dreisbach burned to death before firemen could reach him, police reported. The car was wedged under the truck so firmly that it was almost impossible to extricate him, they said.

The truck driver was Daniel Pensyl, 37, of 221 S. Sixth St., Shamokin. His passenger, Edward Andrews, 34, of 34 Sherman St., Shamokin, was burned and was taken to Graden Hospital, Lehigh, where he was treated and discharged.

Deputy Carbon County Coroner Lamont Zimmerman, Lehigh, arrived at the scene and declared Dreisbach dead of burns.

$6,150 Damage

Troopers John Warkela and Samuel Valick, of the Lehigh State sub-station, investigating officers, estimated damage at $6,000 for the truck, which was new, and $150 for the auto.

The Trachsville Fire Co. extinguished the blaze.

Zimmerman released the body to the Hunsicker Funeral Home, Bethlehem.

William Edwin Dreisbach was born in Bethlehem, the son of Alvin H. and Florence A. Brown Dreisbach.

He was a member of Salem United Church of Christ, Reformed wing, Gilbert. He was employed at the Keystone Lamp Factory, Slatkovich, and was a member of an Allentown unit of the National Guard.

NATO Seeks Way To Ease Tensions

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—In a city under martial law curfew, Western foreign ministers Sunday turned their attention to the problem of trying to find a stopgap agreement with the Communists that would take the heat out of the explosive Berlin situation.

Informed diplomats said the Western leaders, North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting, agreed on conditions for an interim agreement with the Soviet Union. They did not disclose details, but said any deal would have to leave the Allied position in divided Berlin intact at the end of any agreed period. In addition during the term of an agreement Western rights of access to the city would have to be maintained by broad guarantees, they added.

German Plebiscite

At the same time, diplomats said, they endorsed a new summit plan for an all-German plebiscite to settle whether the German people want the Soviet method or the Western method of restoring Germany's unity.

Foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France, meeting with their colleagues, ranged over the policies they intend to present when their chiefs of government meet Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the summit in Paris May 16. Their recommendations will be discussed by the NATO council in sessions opening Monday.

The Western proposal for an all-German plebiscite, informants said, is about the only new element in their German policy down for summit discussion.

The Soviet Union has called for the two Germanys to negotiate terms of reunification which the Big Four powers later could accept. If that does not work, Khrushchev has said the U.S.S.R. would be willing to conclude separate peace pacts with East and West Germany.

The Allies have urged free German-wide election for an all-German government as the starting point for a peace settlement. With the West and the Soviet Union rejecting each other's approach, the Allies now are suggesting that the German people be invited to choose the method they would prefer.

In their discussion of summit subjects, the Western foreign ministers left some differences to be settled by their chiefs.

Needy Given Food Worth Five Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Under the Eisenhower administration the Agriculture Department has released more than five billion pounds of surplus foods to help feed the needy of the nation, the White House announced.

The statement said this "very material assistance" was worth $1,300,000,000.

The White House made public this accounting as a follow-up to a reporter's question at President Eisenhower's news conference Wednesday.

The reporter, May Craig of the Portland, Maine, Press Herald, asked in part: "While you and Congress talk about helping the needy in foreign countries, isn't there something you could do for needy Americans?"

Promised Check
Eisenhower replied he thought the government had been providing aid for Americans in want, but he promised to check and report back.

Thursday's White House statement said: "It should be made perfectly clear that by law and as a matter of policy all surplus foods are made available to needy persons in this country before they are made available for donation to needy persons abroad."

Mrs. Craig had made special mention of West Virginia, which is plagued by unemployment in coal and other industries. She told the President that children there "have been starving for proper food."

The White House statement gave a rundown of measures taken to benefit West Virginia—among other things, contribution of $1,437,000 in cash for local food purchases there under the school lunch program for this fiscal year.

West Virginia's Republican governor, Cecil H. Underwood, said in Charleston that as far as he knows "we haven't had one child starve to death from a lack of food."

State Bridge Program Gains

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Highways Department reported progress Friday, in its 25-million-dollar program to replace some 2,200 hazardous bridges on state roads.

Completion of the program is expected to take 12 years.

In the past seven months, the department said it has assigned contracts to private engineering firms to design 212 new bridges. Replacement for others are being designed by department engineers.

The department said it began using private firms last fall because its own staff could not turn out the plans fast enough.

The goal of the 12-year program is to replace half of the 4,400 state-maintained bridges which bear a weight or height restriction. The department said thousands of other bridges are hazardous for other reasons.

A total of 118 bridges considered hazardous were replaced by the department last year.

Pre-Emptive Rights

By William A. Doyle

Q. In the past, when the company in which I own stock has issued more stock, the stockholders were always permitted to buy the new stock at a little less than the market value.

However the board of directors of the company has now authorized the sale of a new issue of stock. This stock will be offered to the public through an investment banking firm.

The reason given is that, because this is a small issue of stock and because of the present action of the stock market, it will be less expensive for the company to handle the sale this way. I have a lot of faith in this company and its management. But, do the directors have the prerogative to decide how an issue of stock will be sold?

A. They do if stockholders don't have "pre-emptive rights." This is a hot issue. It comes to a boil at this time of year—when most companies hold their annual stockholders' meeting. Pre-emptive rights give stockholders first crack at new offerings by their companies. The details on pre-emptive rights are spelled out in the charter of each company.

To give all the arguments for and against pre-emptive rights would fill a book. Many stockholders feel that offerings of securities should always be made through pre-emptive rights. But there are occasions when it is better for a company to sell its stock to the public—usually through investment banking firms—and not to stockholders. Each offering should be considered individually. If you have all the faith you mention in the company and its management, I suggest you leave decisions such as these in the company's board of directors.

company's charter. The amendment would permit the company to have directors who are not stockholders. I don't believe in having directors who don't think enough of the company to invest a dime in the company's stock. Do you?

A. This is another hot issue. The directors of a company are elected by stockholders. They are the stockholders' representatives. So, it might seem that owning stock would be almost a "must" for directors.

But there are exceptions. It can often be an advantage to a company to have a certain person as a director, even if that person does not own any of the company's stock, because of particular business connections, experience or ability.

Q. I hear a lot about cumulative voting for directors. What is it?

A. It's a method of voting for directors which enables each stockholder to multiply the number of his shares by the number of directorships being voted on and to cast the total for one director or a group of directors. Without cumulative voting, a holder of 100 shares of stock can cast 100 votes for each director.

Jail Driver On Charge Of Hit-Run

WILLIAM Coslosky, Kingston, is in Monroe County Jail following a hearing before Justice of the peace Ike Dyson. Long Pond, on a charge of hit-run driving after an accident Saturday at 8 p.m. near the West End Diner.

Fern Ridge State Police reported that Coslosky was traveling south on Route 115 when he struck a truck operated by William E. Flick Saylorburg, then hit a guard rail, a utility pole, went through a hedge on the property of LeRoy F. Rinker, Saylorburg RD 3, jumped a ditch and came to rest in a field.

Police said Coslosky was attempting to get away from the scene after striking the Flick truck when the balance of the damage occurred and he was charged with leaving the scene and is being held on $500 bail pending court action.

The hearing was held before Dyson following the accident Saturday night.

Accident Involving Three Cars Causes $2,000 Loss; Youth Hurt, Driver Held

A CHAIN-REACTION collision at the intersection of Main and Kitchin Sts. at 1:42 a.m. yesterday left an estimated $2,000 damage, one injured and three cars damaged, Stroudsburg Police reported.

Kenneth Albert, 21, East Stroudsburg RD 1, told police he was traveling east on Main when he dropped a cigarette from his mouth to the floor, and in searching for it, the following happened:

He lost control of the car, jumped the curb in front of the Wallace Hardware Store breaking off two parking meters, and threw one through the store window; broke off a street marker at the intersection; struck a parked car at the intersection driving the second vehicle into a fire hydrant — the car was owned by John Berryman, 1130 Garden St., Stroudsburg — careened off the Berryman car and struck a second parked car owned by Anson Cramer, Stroudsburg RD 3, and finally came to rest against a curb.

A passenger in Albert's auto, Robert Gearhart, 21, of 2 1/2 St. East Stroudsburg, was taken to Monroe County General Hospital dispensary, where he was treated for facial lacerations, requiring 22 stitches in his forehead.

Both the Albert car and the Berryman auto were towed from the scene.

Faces Charge

Police investigating said Albert would be arraigned before Justice of the Peace John Foelker this week.

Albert will be charged with reckless driving, police reported.

Girl Wins Top Prize As Driver

ANNOUNCEMENT of the winners of the sixth annual Junior Chamber of Commerce Road-race was named last night for the three divisions.

Winners in the Over All Division were Eugene Anderson, first; Edward Dilgins, second; and Wesley Rusk, third.

With a possible 400 points Anderson scored 334, Dilgins 327 and Rusk 315.

In the Girls Division it was Eugene Anderson, first; Delores Van Eiten and Judith Rhodes.

Winners in the Boys Division were Edward Dilgins, first; Wesley Rusk, second; and tie for third were Jeffery Bush and Zandee Wicks.

This was the first year in six that a girl has won first place in the Over All Division. Last year Anderson placed third in the Girls Division.

Both Anderson and Dilgins will advance to state level competition in the near future.

Winners in the Girls and Boys Division will receive personal awards and to Stroud Union High School will go the traveling trophy as being the school of which Anderson attends.

To the winners in the Over All Division they will receive individual trophies.

Auto Strikes Pole, Trees; Driver Hurt

ALBERT A. Fenical, 26, of Star Route, East Stroudsburg, crashed into a utility pole and three trees yesterday at 1:25 a.m. about one mile northeast of East Stroudsburg on Route 209.

Fenical was removed from the scene of the accident to the Monroe County General Hospital and was admitted there with multiple lacerations of the face and head.

Fenical was traveling north on Route 209 when he apparently fell asleep and ran off the road crashing into the pole and trees.

Troopers Murphy and Kern, State Police from Stroudsburg station are investigating the accident.

A late report from the hospital said Fenical was "doing fine."

Mental Care Provided 112 From County

GOV. David L. Lawrence has proclaimed this week—May 1-7—as "Mental Health Week" throughout Pennsylvania.

During this week, Pennsylvanians will have an opportunity to see for themselves how the Commonwealth cares for its mentally-ill and mentally-retarded.

All but one of the 17 mental hospitals and five State schools for the retarded will have "Open House" days during Mental Health Week.

In this area, the Allentown State Hospital will hold an open house on May 2.

It was pointed out by the Dept. of Public Welfare that 112 persons from Monroe County are presently residents in state mental hospitals, while 34 of these were new admissions during the past year. However, it was pointed out also that 26 persons were discharged during that year from such hospitals.

Similarly, Pike County had 34 persons, Wayne 88 and Northampton 611 patients in these hospitals.

Gov. Lawrence also set a goal of 3,500 new mental hospital beds by June 1962 in his statement launching Mental Health Week.

Of this number, it was announced that 2,800 beds will be for children, while another 650 will be for adults.

At present there are 18 mental hospitals across the State with a total population of 38,309 patients.

Three Men Are Jailed

THREE area men were placed in Monroe County Jail during the weekend, all on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct, Stroudsburg Police reported yesterday.

John Safin, Stroudsburg, was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Floyd Kellogg, and in lieu of fine, he was given a 30-day term in the jail.

He had been released earlier Friday, but was then returned to the jail.

Alvin Smiley, East Stroudsburg, was also committed to the jail following an incident on lower Main St. police said and he will be given a hearing possibly today before Burgess Ed Doran.

Edward Ace, East Stroudsburg, was given 15 days in jail following a hearing before Burgess Doran in lieu of $10 fine following an incident in the vicinity of the jail.

He had been released earlier Friday, but was then returned to the jail.

Controlled Press

The sad days of 1951 when Dictator Peron crushed the free press in Argentina, are being re-enacted in Cuba today.

Premier Fidel Castro has so far departed from his rosy promises of a free press, made when he ascended to power on Jan. 1, 1959, that most of the publications in Cuba are now under his domination.

While he harangues about U.S. foreign policy smacking of Hitler-Mussolini Fascism, our own State Department refutes his charges by pointing to the fettered Cuban press.

Says Lincoln White: "It is difficult to understand how Premier Castro can make such references to the U.S. when 95 percent of the Cuban press is under government control."

We are reminded this was the procedure followed by Dictator Peron. Newspapers that could not be silenced were seized as he sought to fasten his yoke on Argentina.

That was the fate of La Prensa from 1951 until Peron was overthrown in 1956.

Now Castro is trying the same thing, and the people of Cuba will suffer so long as they must reach decisions without having at hand the information conveyed by an unfettered press.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Ike: One For The Books

Dwight David Eisenhower, age 69, will soon pass an important milestone. He will become the oldest President the United States has ever had.

Despite this, despite three serious illnesses, and despite a workload that would exhaust much younger men, he is in better physical health today than when he took office.

This, said the current issue of Today's Health, authoritative magazine sponsored by the American Medical Association, "is one for the medical books—a living legend of remarkable physical comebacks, of astonishing stamina and energy reserves."

How does he do it? Earnest L. Barcella, UPI bureau chief in Washington, took the trouble to find out. The answers have meaning for every American facing the inevitable years.

The Pennsylvania Story

Weathered Storm

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — A poring over-the-shoulder glance at last week's primary now shows fairly clearly that Pennsylvania's "new look" Democrats weathered their storm in generally acceptable fettle.

On the whole, top Democratic strategists are rather pleased with themselves and the showing made by organization candidates.

However defects and weaknesses are now apparent in local organization units — especially on the county level. Top party leaders here in the State Capital are not unduly concerned. Conviction is firm that most of these kinks can be ironed out by the time the major showdown comes in November.

For new look Democrats of the Keystone State — new look from the standpoint of being the contemporary party in

Veteran's Guide

Q—Some veterans who may be eligible under the new pension law don't seem entirely clear about the terms disability "compensation" and disability "pension." What does each mean?

A—Compensation is a payment made because of a disability connected to a veteran's military service. Pension is paid to a veteran on account of a disability not connected with war service. Income has no bearing on compensation, but does affect pensions.

Q—I am a Korea veteran, with a disability I believe is traceable to my war service. Is there a deadline for making application to the VA for disability compensation?

A—There is no deadline. You may apply at any time. However, if you apply within one year from your discharge, payments may be backdated to your first day as a civilian. Otherwise, payments can become effective only as of the date you apply.

Q—My permanent GI insurance policy has lapsed because I allowed the grace period to go by without paying the premium. What must I do to reinstate my policy?

A—GI permanent plan insurance may be reinstated at any time by payment of all back premiums, plus interest. You must also meet VA's health requirements.

Q—I was going to school under the Korean GI Bill two years ago, when I had to leave because my father took sick. I never did resume my schooling but now understand I can. What do I have to do?

A—Get an application from your nearest VA office. Fill it out completely and return it. If you are eligible, VA will send you a certificate authorizing you to return to school.

Q—A year ago I asked VA to hold my annual GI insurance dividend as a credit, from which to pay my premium in case I should miss a payment. Do I have to renew this arrangement each year with the VA?

A—No. Once the credit arrangement on dividends is authorized by you, it remains in effect until cancelled. It is not necessary to renew your authorization each year.

Q—My husband's electrical appliance shop was burned out this money when he tells VA covered his losses through a fire insurance policy. Is it necessary for him to report this money when he tells VA about his income? He is applying for pension.

A—No. Proceeds of fire insurance policies are not considered income for VA pension purposes.

Q—Since I am totally disabled, my World War II GI term insurance is under premium waiver. May I convert to a permanent plan while the waiver is in effect?

A—Yes. You may convert to any permanent plan other than an endowment and you need not take a medical examination.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Cuban Revolt

Herbert Matthews of "The New York Times" is an expert on Spain and Latin America and like most experts in all fields, he has fallen in love with the little microbes he sees through his glasses.

His defense of Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba as a "social revolution" becomes meaningless in the face of the record as it unfolds. The denial of Communist implications does not hold up from any study of the facts.

Revolutions are made by men with ideas and purposes. Revolutions are never mass explosions.

They are the product of careful planning, of the preparation of slogans and paraphernalia, of the readiness of the leaders to man their posts with immediacy. The Russian Revolution of 1917 was in the making for half a century and the Bolsheviks organized for it in 1903.

All modern revolutions have been social revolutions; Matthews's redundancy establishes no additional information. What is meant by the phrase "social revolution"? It means the dispossession of the possessing classes and the redistribution of both wealth and power to other classes.

A Communist revolution, whether in the stage of a people's republic which Cuba is now, or in the stage of a Socialist state which Russia is now, or in the attempt to establish a Communist state which Red China is now, is always a dictatorship, for its essential characteristics is the dictatorship of the proletariat and thus whoever controls the proletariat is the master of the state.

Among the social revolutions which have failed are those of Hitler, Mussolini and Peron. The only proved successful social revolutions have been those of Lenin in Soviet Russia and Tito in Yugoslavia. With-out a revolution, Franklin D. Roosevelt effected vast social changes in the United States.

To repeat, revolutions are made by men and Fidel Castro collected a group of men from many countries, most of whom are either Communists or fellow travelers.

The leading men are his brother, Raul Castro, Chief of the Army, Dr. Che Guevara, head of the National Bank, Antonio Nunez Jimenez, head of INRA (National Institute of Agrarian Reform), Dr. Waldo Medina, head of the Legal Department of INRA who can change the constitution, Pino Santos, head of the Commercial Division of INRA, Santos Rios, General Assistant to Fidel Castro. Associated with them are Czechoslovakians, Italians, Germans, Japanese, Guatemalans, Argentinians and others, who are one shade or another, Left Wingers.

Cuba is practically without political parties except the Socialist Party which is Communist. Fidel Castro does not belong to a political party but is representative of a people's movement. However, the cooperation of the Socialist Party is accepted. Communism is regarded not as political but as ideological. The official paper of the government, "Revolucion," is edited by Carlos Franqui who is a Communist.

The first characteristic of a Communist revolution is the sequestration of land without compensation. It is a fundamental of the Marxian doctrine that the land belongs to all the people and its produce to those who work it with their sweat and blood.

To compensate landlords is to give profits to the capitalist class, thus acknowledging that they have some rights. Before Mikoyan came to Cuba, there was some discussion of giving the landlords a kind of bonds for their lands, houses and cattle.

Now they get nothing, after the Russian Marxian pattern. The next step will undoubtedly be the establishment of state-owned industries by seizing all the sugar mills which will be nationalized. The mark of a Socialist Revolution anywhere, by definition, is the seizure by the government of the means of production, distribution and exchange.

The next stage is the abolition of the family, of religion, of nationality and the establishment of the dictatorship of the proletariat.

Every person in Cuba will sooner or later be working for the government and will be policed by Castro's militia. The development of such a militia (Trotzky's Red Army) can, in short order, hold any unarmed people in absolute thrall. Every revolution employs such a militia not to achieve social change but to keep in power those who have seized power. An example of such a militia was Hitler's Storm Troopers.

The apologists for Castro deal with his sweet and gentle personality. No one could have been more gentle than Lenin. I saw him often. He could not hurt a fly! What does that prove? In the name of revolution, he had many killed. Sun Yat-sen was almost feminine in his sweetness, but sent many revolutionists into war and death.

Things I Never Knew 'Til Now

Winston Churchill wasn't the only British Prime Minister with a genius for coining golden phrases . . . Benjamin Disraeli, who served Queen Victoria many years as first minister of her realm, also possessed a silver tongue . . . One of our favorites is his witticism: "It is much easier to be critical than to be correct."

But Disraeli was never more wise than when he said: "Everything comes if a man will only wait. The secret of success is constancy to purpose." For if you will examine the career of many a successful person, you will see a story of poor and inauspicious beginnings which were outgrown; discouraging handicaps overcome.

Not long ago, one of Disraeli's countrymen wrote a tome in which he said that real talent seems to flourish, not die, under adverse circumstances . . . In a book called "The Infirmities of Genius," Dr. W. R. Bett declared that 18th Century authors are extraordinary examples of men who overcame severe handicaps to reach their destinations in life.

He pointed out that the poet Alexander Pope was a hunchback, who was tortured by asthma and headaches . . . Charles Lamb had mental problems so severe they landed him in a strait-jacket . . . Thomas DeQuincey was addicted to opium . . . Even Byron, the celebrated poet and lover, suffered a clubfoot . . . But Lord Byron learned to look on the bright side and enjoy life to the fullest . . . Including even such a common pleasure as a good cigar—which, incidentally, he described in one of his poems as a "sublime" delight.

But the doctor's theory that success and happiness grow out of the habit of persistently working to overcome obstacles doesn't need to be restricted to authors, nor to the 18th century, either . . . Young Albert Einstein was so slow and backward—his parents feared there was something wrong with him. And on a Berlin street-car once he accused the conductor of giving him the wrong change . . . The conductor counted the coins again, found the amount correct, and told the father of relativity and atomic energy: "The trouble with you is you don't know figures!"

When Richard E. Byrd was a boy of twelve he wrote in his diary: "I have decided to be the first man to fly over both the North and South Poles" . . . Afterward came the handicap of three airplane crashes, a crushed foot and a Navy discharge as "physically unfit," but Byrd got where he was going.

People in Milan, Ohio, thought their newsboy behaved so strangely he must have been mentally deficient . . . But young Tom Edison went on to astonish them, and the world, with his discoveries.

George Herman Ruth started out as a poorly-educated orphan boy . . . In piling up his all-time record of 714 home runs, The Babe smashed his way to a bigger salary than the President's and into the hearts of all Americans.

U. S. Grant achieved something less than a brilliant record at West Point, failed in business repeatedly, and went little-noticed during the early days of the Civil War . . . In fact, when he first reported to the War Department — Washington — newspapermen were able to identify him only by means of his ever-present cigar.

Then there was the Swedish girl whose father died when she was fourteen . . . She had her family and finally found a job in a Stockholm barber shop where she lathered men's faces for the razor . . . Several years passed before critics were hailing this girl, Greta Garbo, as one of the loveliest and most talented actresses ever born.

The world knows and loves Jimmy Durante for that wonderful proboscis, and the humor he has built around it. It is as much his trademark and his strength as Eddie Cantor's pop eyes, or Joe E. Brown's watermelon mouth . . . Do you remember that French accent that Irene Bordoni had to rehearse constantly? She knew that without it her career would be shot . . . What would happen to Emily Kimbrough, accident prone as she is, if she went on one of those trips of hers and nothing happened? What would she write about?

One weakness of the United States in negotiations at the summit is its lack of maneuverability. A recent statement by President Eisenhower suggests that perhaps the United States has been missing the boat at top-level meetings.

The President's idea that Vice President Richard M. Nixon might in some circumstances sit in for him at the summit has opened this line of speculation.

If both Nixon and a ranking Democrat had been sitting in, for example, on the Khrushchev-Eisenhower talks last September, or had been assigned to the Paris summit meeting opening May 16, considerable weight might have been added to American positions and proposals.

For example, there might be more force behind the President's offer of a moratorium on nuclear tests.

President Eisenhower, as he pointed out, could not commit his successor to the moratorium, and that meant a cessation only until the end of this year. Khrushchev thus could say this was not enough — too short a period for such a pledge.

Q. If I had the Social Security Administration withhold some of my checks because I expected to earn over $1200, do I have to file the annual report?

A. Yes. It is impossible to tell how many checks are due you without information showing your total annual earnings. You may have some of the withheld checks refunded or you may owe additional checks but in any event you must file the report with the Social Security Administration within 3 months and 15 days after the close of your taxable year.

The State Department is ready to use foreign aid funds to develop a "sound labor program" in South Korea. Former President Syngman Rhee balked at that, but the Department is now willing to renew such an offer. This was disclosed in memorandum to Senator J. Hotel-Restaurant Show Opens Tonight

101 Booths Rented For Annual Show

THE 11th ANNUAL Pocono Mountains Hotel and Restaurant Show opens a three-day stand at the Penn-Stroud Hotel today.

It is sponsored by the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau and the Northeastern Pennsylvania Restaurant Assn.

Show hours will be from 8 to 11 p.m. today, following the formal opening, 2 to 10 p.m. tomorrow and 2 to 6 p.m. Wednesday. Admission is by invitation only.

70 Exhibitors

Guy Nicholas, show chairman, reported last night that 70 exhibitors have rented all 101 booth spaces available in the hotel garage. This is comparable with last year, when all facilities were also used.

Among the highlights of the program will be the appearance of Miss Gerry deMauro, eastern field dietitian for the institutional products division of General Foods, who will present five demonstrations on the use of jello in salads and desserts during the show.

They are scheduled for 3, 5 and 8 p.m. tomorrow and at 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. Wednesday and have been arranged by Millett and Lyons, Scranton food wholesalers.

Before joining General Foods, Miss deMauro was a food service consultant in the institutional field. In 1942, she organized and managed the food service department for Reader's Digest and was its director for 12 years.

Prior to that, she was a member of the faculty at Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y., where she taught quantity foods and food service management.

Today's program will begin with a cocktail party and reception, sponsored by the exhibitors, at 5 p.m. A kickoff dinner at 6:30 p.m. will be followed by the formal opening of the show with a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 8 p.m.

Gerry deMauro

Tuesday's session will be highlighted by a panel discussion under the direction of Dr. S. Earl Thompson, head of the department of hotel and institutional administration of Pennsylvania State University. It is scheduled for 4 p.m.

At 6 p.m., a cocktail hour will precede a Dutch treat dinner at 7 p.m.

Wednesday's program includes a fashion show and luncheon at noon in the Penn-Stroud.

Mrs. Yazulla, 74, Dies At Swiftwater

MRS. ANNA YAZULLA, 74, died in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rose Hasse, Swiftwater, at 8:15 p.m. Saturday after an illness of several months.

She was born in Czechoslovakia and had resided in Monroe County for the past three years. Prior to coming to this area she made her home in Oradell, N.J.

Mrs. Yazulla was a member of St. Mary of the Mount Roman Catholic Church, Mount Pocono.

In addition to her daughter, she is survived by her husband, Peter, Swiftwater; three daughters, Mrs. Anna Matage, Oregon; Mrs. Helen Baresky, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Mrs. Victoria Matzek, North Bergen, N.J.; two sons, Stephen Yazulla, Lincoln Park, N.J.; and George Yazulla, Security, Colo.; 13 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by the Daniel G. Warner Funeral Home.

The ostrich is largest of living birds. The Australian emu, which looks something like an ostrich, is second largest.

Fred Gardner, 79, Dies Of Illness

FRED C. GARDNER, 79, of 196 Washington St., East Stroudsburg, financial secretary of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church for the past 16 years, died at his home at 3:30 a.m. Saturday.

He had been in failing health for three years, and seriously ill for the past three weeks.

He was the son of the late Isaac and Lizzie Simpson Gardner of East Stroudsburg.

Former Bank Employee
In addition to his other post, Mr. Gardner was a member of the Board of Trustees of the church, and was a former employee of the First Stroudsburg National Bank.

He is survived by one sister, Miss Bessie Gardner, at home. Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the residence at 196 Washington St., with Rev. Frank W. Wingerter officiating.

Interment will be in Stroudsburg Cemetery.

There will be no visitation. Arrangements are through the Lanterman Funeral Home.

Probe Arson In School Fire

READING, Pa. (AP) — Fire Chief Russell Bowers says the possibility of arson in the burning of a downtown Reading grade school is being investigated.

Someone was inside the building at Elm and Moss Streets Saturday when the fire began, Bowers said.

The Board of Education estimated damage from the blaze at $50,000, but said replacement of the 12 classrooms would cost more than 10 times that amount.

The three-story brick building, built in 1901, was gutted.

Enthusiastic Crowd Applauds YMCA Benefit Stage Show

"JABBERWOCK of 1960," the minstrel variety show given for the benefit of the YMCA bus fund, attracted an enthusiastic audience to the East Stroudsburg State College auditorium Saturday night.

Jack Haswell, general chairman, estimated the crowd at 700 persons.

Sponsored by The Daily Record and Monroe County YMCA organizations, the two-hour show provided the vehicle for a cast of 70 persons to display a variety of talents ranging from comedy to vocal and dancing numbers. Colorful costumes added to the effect.

The comedy was furnished by Walter Sebring, Lester Katz, Irwin Sommers, Walter Fossa, John Wilson, Harvey Burrus, Mary Germain, Sam Coco, Jacob Altemose, Ed Doran and Albert Yutz. The latter also sang a vocal number.

"Theater in the Sky," by Karen Roth, the show's producer and choreographer, was nostalgic and drew hearty applause.

Other favorites included the Community Chorus, Kenneth Raessler, the Sunshine Octette—a group of eight boys from East Stroudsburg High School —

Robyn Roth, the Rockettes of 1960 and the Rockettes of 1970, and the guest artist, Miss Jane Corcoran, Scranton ballerina.

The orchestra was under the direction of Ernest Farmer and featured Mrs. Farmer at the piano, Poley McClintock at the drums and Roaul Longworth, guitarist.

The show was given to obtain funds to buy a new bus for the YMCA to transport children to camps and various athletic and recreational activities. It was not known last night whether the amount needed was reached.

Lots of things have changed since then . . .

Things have changed considerably since yesterday when a stately Judge Brown greeted folks promenading on the court house common. Our lives, meanwhile, have been greatly influenced by the automobile, the airplane, and the atomic bomb. Science and medicine have pushed many diseases to the threshold of extinction!

But some basic things have continued unchanged . . . and they'll be unchanged as long as free men gather to exercise their hard-won rights. Freedom, equality and justice are among these.

Throughout the nation today, we observe Law Day, U.S.A. It is a day dedicated to the triumph of justice and to the honor and dignity of man. In certain other countries, it is May Day . . . a day to display force, power and military might where peoples' law is scoffed at, and justice is linked with deceit and treachery.

We pause to pay tribute to the men and women—our lawyers, writers, educators, judges, legislators, magistrates . . . Americans everywhere who uphold the spirit of liberty, democracy and justice . . . the hope of freedom-loving peoples throughout the world.

Suggestion For Mother's Day Noted

WITH Mother's Day such a short time away, here's a most thoughtful suggestion. What could please a mother with a hearing problem more than a gift of an Audovox Hearing Aid?

Marguerite J. Greinert's Better Hearing Center, an expert in lending aid to the hard of hearing for over 21 years offers personalized service. It should be stressed, that Dr. Greinert's service extends to all whether they wear a hearing aid or not. Perhaps you are not certain if such help is required; in any case she is always ready to help. Anyone desiring an appointment may do so by writing the Bushkill offices or by phoning LUther 8-6718.

Service on batteries, cord and repairs of hearing aids may be obtained by visiting Bud's Men Shop at 760 Main St. in Stroudsburg.

PICTURED ABOVE is a few of the many types of Flexalum awnings available at Joseph G. DeRenzis Son, 21 North Sixth Street, Stroudsburg, where there's an awning to fit your needs plus giving your home a wonderful new look outside . . . a new world of comfort inside. Some of these awnings will be on display this week at the annual Hotel show at the Penn-Stroud.

Al Derenzis Notes Values Of Turning Patio 'Cool'

FLEXALUM patio awnings, according to Al Derenzis of Joseph G. DeRenzis and Son, 21 N. 6th St. Stroudsburg, can put new fun in outdoor living. Turn your patio into a cool, shaded spot . . . ideal for barbecues, for entertaining, for play area . . . or for just taking it easy. Al says put up a Flexalum Patio awning. Is just like adding an out door "living room" to your home.

Flexalum patio awnings let cool breezes in . . . keep sun and rain out. They give your patio furniture year round protection, keep it new looking longer. And you'll find outdoor entertaining extra fun, because with Flexalum you won't have to worry about the weather. flexalum window awnings give you sun and all-weather protection. Protect your home against both hot summer sun and rough winter weather. Flexalum window awnings keep weather out . . . you can open windows wide even on rainy days. Flexalum awnings protect household furnishings against fading . . . filter out the harsh rays of the sun . . . bring a pleasant halo of light into your home. With flexalum, there's no "nuts and bolts" look underneath . . . they look as attractive as "light channeling" and all-white underside bring a pleasant halo of soft, diffused light into your home.

Full Ventilation — Flexalum awnings not only keep summer heat out, but help to ventilate your home as well. Unique vent-design acts to pull warm air out.

Extra Strength — Flexalum's spring-tempered aluminum alloy

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

I rather enjoy being an "Invitational Lady." I wasn't too sure just what it meant when the invitation from Shawnee Inn arrived addressed "To All Invitational Ladies." Wasn't until Curt Prins came home from the Invitational Golf Tournament that I was sure that it wasn't an insulting term.

Anyway it was a delightful party at 10 a.m. for the wives of golfers with Marcella Clapp DeLoeco speaking on costumes of 1910, which was the year the Inn was built. She had some beautiful costumes, and had done a great deal of scholarly research on the effect of war and social changes on costumes.

But she also had unearthed some of the off-beat information which always delights my heart: the women of Egypt painted their faces with white lead and then wondered why their teeth turned black and dropped out; there was a time when shoes were made to fit either foot; in the days of Madame Pompadour with those headresses (one over baskets, they had to have special scratchers to reach down in to cope with the concomitants of ermine.

The reason Lady's Godey book pictured all the women leaning forward as they walked was because the weight of the pillows they used for bustles and the weights on the hems of the heavy trains on the dresses made them pull against the harness like Volga boatmen.

The origin of the hobble skirt she attributed to the Wright brothers. Seems the Queen of Belgium wanted a ride in the new contraption and to keep her from inventing the parachute before time they tied in her voluminous skirts with cord. After the flight she was so excited she went hobbling off, all bound up like a parcel, and a new style was born.

The Invitational Ladies were delighted with Marcella, her costumes and her remarks, and I was pleased with the Invitational Ladies, who, even at ten o'clock on a Saturday morning, looked like advertisements for "Fashions, Shawnee Inn, 1936."

Leisure Hour For Games

The Leisure Hour Club will meet at the YMCA on Wednesday afternoon at 2 when an afternoon of games has been arranged by the program committee. Members are asked to bring a pencil.

The refreshment committee includes Mrs. Lydia Kirkhoff, chairman; Mrs. Edith Christman, Mrs. George Woolbaugh, Mrs. Ruth Lender, Mrs. Fannie Kintner and Mrs. Emma Dreher.

Paradise-Mt. Pocono PTA Invited To Groundbreaking

Members of the Mount Pocono-Paradise Parent Teachers Assn. were invited to the groundbreaking for the New Pocono Mountain School on May 3 at 11 a.m. weather permitting. The school site can be reached by the township road from the Woodland Road entrance.

At the meeting George Curnoles was elected chairman of the nominating committee which also includes Mrs. Jean Trenholm and Mrs. Stanley Natur. They will present a slate of officers at the May 23 meeting.

Curnoles also issued a plea for fathers to help in the Boy Scout program in the area. Leadership training meetings are held every Wednesday during May, he said, and urged fathers interested to call him.

Mrs. Donald Brown reported on the Northeastern District PTA convention held in Honesdale in which trends in education were stressed with the part PTAs can play in up-grading education in their own areas.

Hadassah Donor Dinner Scores Hit

At the annual Donor Dinner of the local Hadassah, Cantor Kurt Silbermann sang a group of songs including Israeli folk songs, an aria from "Aida" and some of the best known songs from current musical comedies. He was accompanied by Mrs. N. Stewart.

Mrs. Philip Berman, regional president of Hadassah, told of her recent travels around the world and showed slides of her trip which took in Afghanistan, Alaska and Russia.

Under the joint chairmanship of Mrs. Leo Feinsilber and Mrs. Leon Koster, the dinner was held at Pocomt Lodge in Bushkill, with husbands of members as guests. It proved so successful that plans to repeat a similar dinner in future years are being considered.

Sunshine Class To Hear Talk On Russia

Sunshine Class of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church will meet in the church parlors on Tuesday night at 7:45. Following the business meeting, Mrs. Holt Wyckoff will show pictures and tell of their trip to Russia.

Friends are invited and the Crown Seekers Class of the church will be guests. Hostesses will be Mrs. Chauncey Bensley, chairman; Mrs. Carl Nauman, Mrs. Edward Staples, Mrs. Grady Moore and Miss Lulu Staples.

Book Review For St. Mary's Guild Tuesday

A book review given by Mrs. Charles A. Park will mark the meeting of St. Mary's Guild of Christ Episcopal Church at the parish hall on Tuesday afternoon at 2.

Members are asked to bring the quilt patches and dress material so that the second missionary assignment to the San Juan Mission in Farmington, N.M., can be sent out.

Date Changed

Newfoundland — The date for the May meeting of the auxiliary of Phillips-Zacharias-Phillips Post 859, American Legion, has been changed to avoid conflict with the Wayne County Chorus and Band Concert on May 3.

The auxiliary will meet instead on May 17 at 8:30 p.m. at the American Legion home, according to Mrs. Harold Peet, president. Members are asked to bring in all coupons.

Stroud PTA Note

Mrs. James Kitson, president of the Stroud Union Parent-Teachers Assn., has called a meeting of the executive board for 7 p.m., preceding the open meeting of the executive board at the high school.

On a windy day take a box of thumb tacks along on a picnic to hold down tablecloth and paper plates.

Talk With Bells On For Jr. Women

"Around the World With Bells" will be the title of the talk to be given at the meeting of the Junior Women's Club on Tuesday night at 8 at the Stroud Community House. The speaker will be Mrs. Chester Hindroch.

The meeting will also be the club's annual business meeting when members will vote on the welfare project for 1960-61, the ways of raising the money, and the new officers who will be installed at the meeting.

Joan Staples and Marilyn Litts are co-chairmen of the hostess committee which includes Patricia Stalmer, Emma Jane Strunk, Diane Shanley and Jean Snyder.

Mrs. Potcher President Of Ramsey PTA

Mrs. Charles Potcher was elected president of the Ramsey Parent-Teachers Assn. at their April meeting. Also presented by the nominating committee and endorsed by the members were: Lloyd Manter, vice president; Mrs. Henry Baustein, secretary; and Mrs. William Currow Jr., treasurer.

Mrs. Joy Koppenhaver, retiring president, thanked the nominating committee and announced that the new officers would be installed at the May meeting. At that time, the program will include an art exhibit and music by the pupils.

Earl Groner, superintendent of schools of Stroud Union School District, was introduced by program chairman, Lloyd Manter. In speaking of "Quality Education," Groner said that the elementary school which

(1) taught the fundamentals of reading, writing and arithmetic;

(2) recognized the differences in children;

(3) taught each child as much as he could absorb; and

(4) educated the pupil to be a good future citizen, was presenting quality education.

He gave an informative survey of the local curriculum.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. William Diehl and Mrs. Lloyd Manter.

Local Women At Convention

Mrs. Katherine Knox and Mrs. Elsie Counterman of East Stroudsburg, Mrs. Jack Manchester of Henryville, Mrs. Elizabeth Strohl and Mrs. Esther Carson of Mount Pocono, motored to Pittsburgh on Saturday, April 23 to attend the district meeting and reception of state officers of the Sons and Daughters of Liberty.

Mrs. William Wellmann of York is the state councillor. Mrs. Knox is state associate vice councillor; Mrs. Counterman, national representative; and Mrs. Strohl, state deputy.

The reception was given by members of the Sons and Daughters of Liberty in the western district.

Head Of MEDICO To Speak To Dutch Treat Thursday

A grass-roots physician-to-patient program in the war against disease around the world will be described to members of the Dutch Treat Club at their final dinner meeting of the season on Thursday night at 7 at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Dr. Peter D. Comanduras, administrator of MEDICO, a new division of the International Rescue Commission, will be the guest speaker.

MEDICO stands for Medical International Cooperation and its objective is to send teams of physicians and medically trained assistants into the underdeveloped areas of the world where they build, equip and staff medical clinics and small hospitals.

It was formed early in 1958 by Leo Cherne, chairman of the International Rescue Commission and Angier Biddle Duke, president of this non-sectarian private agency. Dr. Comanduras gave up his extensive private practice in Washington, D. C., where he was head of the Department of Gastro-Intestinal Medicine at George Washington University, Associate professor of Clinical Medicine at the Medical School and consultant to hospitals in the area, to become the administrative head of MEDICO.

A native of Lowell, Mass., and a graduate of Tufts University, Dr. Comanduras completed his specialty training at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine and subsequently served at the Lahey Clinic in Boston and at the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit.

In his post as secretary-general of MEDICO, Dr. Comanduras made a 20-nation tour of developing African and Asian nations. Highlights of his trip included a visit with Dr. Albert Schweitzer at Lambaréne in French Equatorial Africa, an honorary patron of MEDICO, Dr. Gordon Seagrave, the famous "Burma Surgeon," sponsored by the group; Dr. Thomas A. Dooley in Laos; and also sponsored by MEDICO.

Party Marks Fifth Birthday

Delaware Water Gap—Gwendolyn Kaiser celebrated her fifth birthday with a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kaiser.

Her guests were Elsa and Donna DelCamp, Scottie Fisher, Gracie Bush, Sherry and Jan Carlton of East Stroudsburg; Paula Weary of Stroudsburg; Karen Seeley, Valerie, Bradley and Rebecca Kaiser, and her sister, Roxanne.

Adult guests were her grandmother, Mrs. William Kaiser, of East Stroudsburg; Mrs. William Fisher, Mrs. Robert Kaiser, Mrs. S. Carlton of East Stroudsburg and Mrs. A. Del Camp.

To save time in looking for something in your home freezer, label the packages on both sides. Use different color tape for chicken, pork, beef and other meats.

Family Fun At Church In Craigs Meadow

The Family Fun Night at Craigs Meadow, sponsored by the young people of St. Paul's Lutheran Church had as its theme "Work, Play, and Pray Together."

The program opened with devotions and a play "Ten Little Christians."

Other events included a spelling bee, Bible Quiz, Alphabet game, an elocution contest, an orange roll race, and a post-Easter parade of hats.

Winners in the Easter parade of hats made from kitchen material were Mrs. Russell Wildrick and Lloyd Smith. Prizes were also given for a number of other games.

Spring flowers were used for decorations and refreshments were served. Members of the class of junior girls who planned the program were Carol Lesoine, Gail Smith, Jeanne Yetter, Jo Ann and Donna Hamlen, Sandra Tallada, Linda Hartman and Joyce Miller.

The collection will be used toward the purchase of new altar paraments.

Korea Topic For County's Presbyterian

Korea, currently in the news because of political unrest, will be the theme of the program to be presented at the annual combined meeting of the Presbyterian women of the county on Tuesday night at 8 at the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Norman Koehler, who with her husband is on the Committee on Ecumenical Missions for servicemen overseas, has spent some time in Korea and will speak from personal experiences of the problems there.

The speaker has been secured by the Delaware Water Gap Church. The Shawnee Church is in charge of the music and will present Mrs. Abraham Kulp as soloist. The Stroudsburg Church is in charge of devotions and the Middle Smithfield Church is in charge of program.

Refreshments will be served after the program by members of the East Stroudsburg Women's Assn.

Rick Lesoine One Year Old

Wooddale—Rick Lesoine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lesoine of Wooddale was one year old on April 19. A family party was held in his honor. Mrs. Lesoine baked the birthday cake.

Those present were: his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Lesoine and son, Freddy, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Lyon and Rick's sister, Robyn, his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lesoine were unable to attend.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"Tomorrow, if all goes well, I shall be in Hempstead, L.I." I told my WVPO radio audience Wednesday morning, "looking for a miracle. I am going to St. Paul's Greek Orthodox Church to see the two Madonna icons, both of which began weeping prior to Easter, and one of which is still shedding tears. I hope to interview Father George Papadeas, the priest at St. Paul's . . . and I'll tell you what I saw upon my return."

I returned Thursday evening, after spending several hours at the beautiful, large church erected in 1958 by Greek Orthodox parishioners representing some 80 communities . . . and, determined as I was not to be carried away, but to draw my own conclusions . . . I honestly believe I have witnessed something miraculous—something that can be explained only by describing it as the will of God. My interview with Father Papadeas . . . an enthusiastic, completely sincere young man of 41 . . . will be presented in its entirety Sunday afternoon, May 8th (Mother's Day) from 5:30 to 6 o'clock over station WVPO.

When I arrived in Hempstead, a community of some 30,000 residents according to the taxi driver, I was impressed by the continuous stream of people filing in and out of the coral brick edifice, with its prettily landscaped lawns, and four Cross-topped domes rising heavenward. Father Papadeas was attending a funeral, and would return in about an hour. Would I care to wait in the office? Instead I entered the church, and joined the long procession of men, women, and children—some of them weeping—waiting to pass by the two lithographs of the Madonna which have been publicized by every metropolitan newspaper, TV and radio service, since early in the Easter season. The attitude of the crowd was in itself miraculous. There was no pushing . . . no conversation . . . no show of impatience when some people paused for five or even ten minutes before the glass cases. There was silence . . . awe . . . reverence.

As I passed the case for the first time, I was disappointed. This was no miracle! The face beneath the glass had been almost entirely obscured by the prints of kisses . . . but the eyes looked out at me absolutely clear, unsmudged, and DRY. There was no tear at all. Did these people seriously believe they saw a tear? Were they merely crying to convince themselves? Were they as disappointed as I? Or were they more devoted, truly seeing something that was not being revealed to me?

Saying my rosary, and a few personal prayers, I knelt in the quiet chapel, marveling at the unbroken line filing past. After about an hour, I once again joined the ranks . . . walked up the polished marble steps to the altar . . . bent over the case. It was unbelievable! The eye was shimmering, as though someone had dropped a piece of broken glass upon the very center. Just beneath the pupil it glittered . . . it even seemed to grow a bit larger as I watched. Outside of the church I questioned others as they left. Have you been here before? What have you seen? The tears are less frequent now, I was told, sometimes taking several hours to form . . . but Mrs. Pearl Karadenes, a dignified young woman, who was standing in the entrance hall, told me in an awed voice that she had seen the manifestation the night it began in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Koullis. "Tears streamed from the eyes," she said earnestly. "It was unbelievable—but it was happening, and while the paper was soaked in front, the back wasn't even wet."

Father Papadeas verified this. Had I been skeptical before, I certainly could not be after talking with him. He believes beyond doubt . . . but, he points out sadly, "The Mother of God has much to cause her to weep in these days." Since this miracle, he hardly leaves the church, remaining even until two and three o'clock in the morning, looking in now and then upon the Madonna icons (one of which wept only three days) at intervals. Bus loads of visitors arrive from everywhere . . . the devout of all faiths fly in for blessings. "I never dreamed this would happen in my parish," he marvels.

He thinks the first Madonna roused so much skepticism, God produced the second manifestation—and this one reporters and photographers were permitted to examine out of its frame, so they might see and believe.

Before I left, Father Papadeas and I went to the altar once again. The long time separated to permit us to approach the shrine. Glancing down, I felt an electric shock tear through me from head to toe. The eye that had gleamed was now clear and perfectly dry, but the cheek of the Madonna was drenched by a tear that had fallen. Quietly Father and I walked out to my cab. "This is unbelievable," I murmured, "I am shaken by it." He nodded solemnly. "I know," he said, "for that is how it affects me every time I see it happening."

I may never see a miracle again . . . but there is no doubt in my heart that this is one, and I have been a witness!

Match Ends On 16th

Lebel Defeats Prickett For Invitational Crown

By CURT PRINS
Sports Editor

SHAWNEE — Dr. Ray Lebel, roared to a 6-up lead after 12-holes and withstood a last ditch rally by Jack Prickett, Philadelphia, to win the Shawnee Inn Invitational Golf Tournament, 3 and 2 Sunday.

Dr. Lebel, a Portland, Me. dentist playing in the tournament for the second time — he won the second flight in 1958 — appeared to have the match closed out on the 13th hole but lost three straight holes to Prickett.

It was Prickett's eighth appearance in the 37-year-old tourney and a stingy putter made it a losing one. He three-putted the fourth, 8th and 9th holes, missing twice from two-feet and once from three feet. He did not have a birdie or a one-putt green.

Two Birds
Dr. Lebel, using two and three woods off the tee, because of the drenched fairways, birdied the 6th hole from 10-feet and rammed in a 25-footer on 12, for his only other bird.

A heavy rain followed the championship two-some for the first two holes, but changed to an off and on drizzle for the rest of the match.

Dr. Lebel, four-time Maine Amateur Champion, won the second, fourth, sixth, seventh and ninth holes, to go 5-up at the turn. He had a one-over par 37, for the front side of the Delaware Riverside course.

Ahead By Six
After both players halved the 10th and 11th, Dr. Lebel dropped a seven-iron shot 25-feet from the pin on the 385-yard 12th hole and sank the putt, to go 6-up on the Philadelphia.

With Prickett dormant, Dr. Lebel needed only a half on the next hole to win the match. But it took the small, stocky New Englander four holes to get it.

He pushed his drive on 13 into the right rough and tried to play out with a five wood. He cut under the ball hitting it only about 60 yards closer to the hole and still in the rough.

"I wasn't too smart on that shot," Dr. Lebel said later, "I should have hit a four-iron shot onto the fairway and played for the half. It was no time for me to gamble."

Lead Out
Prickett won the hole with a par and his par on the 14th cut Dr. Lebel's lead to four holes. The 37-year-old dentist needed three shots to get home from the edge of the green on the par three, 210-yard hole.

Dr. Lebel three-putted the 15th green, missing his second putt from 18-inches, for a bogie. Prickett parred the hole after hitting a miraculous three-wood shot from a gravel service road.

Both finalists put their tee shots on the green at 16 but Prickett was 30 feet and two humps from the flag. Dr. Lebel was only 18-feet beyond the cup.

Final Putt
Prickett's almost impossible putt rolled harmlessly by the hole. Dr. Lebel lagged his putt up to the hole and dropped in a second one from 15 inches to win the match.

It was the second year in a row that a Maine dentist won the four-day event.

Dr. Leonard Buck, of Bath, Me., won in 1959. He was eliminated in the first round of this year's event.

Two Games Postponed

A's, Kunkletown Win Pocono Loop Openers

ANALOMINK and Kunkletown got a jump on five other Pocono Mountain League teams Sunday and moved into a first place tie in the nine-team loop.

Analomink pounded Saylorsburg 16-6 at Stroudsburg and Kunkletown slapped Barrett 9-2. Two other league openers, Bushkill at Tannersville and Redders at West End were postponed because of wet grounds. Eastern Poconos had an opening day bye.

Bill Carson, managed the A's, an Analomink club in the absence of Dick Miller who had to work, and smashed four hits in five trips, including a triple and double. He scored four runs and batted in three.

New Power
Earl Everett, a newcomer to the A's, had three hits in five appearances and batted in two runs.

Everett took Dick Feller's place at first base this season, when the club's leading hitter of last year, was called into the service. Centerfielder Tom Beseker added three hits and drove in a trio of runs.

George Kays went the distance for the winners, giving up nine hits. He was in trouble only twice, giving up three runs in the first and fifth innings.

Hill Has Three
Tom Hill had three hits and D. Conklin two for the losers.

Ron Phillips turned in a brilliant defensive performance for Analomink, handling six chances at third base without an error. Kunkletown, the pennant winner last year, spotted Barrett a two-run lead in the first inning, but went ahead for keeps in the third inning on home runs by Roy Nicholas and Dick Serfass.

Nicholas also homered in the fourth inning. Both of his blasts came with the bases empty. D. Kresge smacked a solo four bagger for the winners in the sixth. G. Olsson had a homer for Barrett.

Dean Leslie, the winner, hurled the first five innings for Kunkletown. He gave up two runs, both earned, on two hits and struck out 11. Kresge took over in the sixth, pitching four innings of hitless and runless ball. He fanned five.

L. Price, went all the way for Barrett. He was slapped for 12 hits and nine earned runs. He issued six passes and struck out eight.

Pirates Win Ninth In Row, 13-2 From Reds

CINCINNATI (AP)—A grand slam homer by Roberto Clemente and the tight pitching of Vern Law helped Pittsburgh's high riding Pirates pick up a 13-2 victory over slumping Cincinnati Sunday.

The victory ran the Pirate win streak to nine, and was the fifth time the Pirates have padded the Reds in six decisions this season.

The Pirates tied into starter Don Newcombe in the first inning: Don Hoak and Dick Groat led off with singles. After Dick Stuart walked, Clemente—hitting .386—banged his fourth homer of the season.

Cincinnati never got back in the game after the first inning shock. Pittsburgh 400 020 034—13 12 0 Cincinnati 101 000 000—2 9 2

Law and Burgess; Newcombe, Purkey (5), Lawrence (8), Osteen (9) and Bailey. W—Law (4-0), L—Newcombe (1-1).

Home runs—Pittsburgh, Clemente (4), Mazeroski (3).

Slippery Rock won the event, followed by Indiana, West Chester and Cheyney and East Stroudsburg.

Welsh Hired As New Loop Scout

RAY WELSH, former Pittsburgh Pirate scout, has been signed by Denver's entry in the new Continental League as American and National League scout.

Welsh, of Arlington Heights, will be in charge of selecting players from both leagues as well as the Eastern League for purchase by Denver, currently operating in the International League.

Stadium Clincher

Welsh, who teaches high school in East Orange, N. J., said in a telephone interview last night, "that he has every reason to believe that the Continental League is scheduled to open in 1961 and Welsh feels that if the loop does not operate, Denver will be included in the expansion plans of either the American or National Leagues."

He will stay in Stroudsburg for the summer but indicated that he may be moved to Denver when the new league opens.

ESSC Fares Poorly At Penn Relays

EAST Stroudsburg State College met with little success at the Penn Relays, which ended a two-day stand in Philadelphia Saturday.

In the State College Mite Relay event, the Warrior team of Art Wilson, Jim Kilmer, Jim Richardson and Russ Hopewell finished fifth in a field of 10.

Slippery Rock won the event, followed by Indiana, West Chester and Cheyney and East Stroudsburg.

Finish Last

In the Silver Baton Sprint Medley on Saturday, the Warrior finished last in their six-team race.

Brown University won the event, with the University of Delaware, second; LaSalle, third; Lincoln, fourth; Colgate, fifth and East Stroudsburg last.

The Warriors were in second place for the first three legs of the mile-event but distance runner Ray Kresler, making his first start in a half-mile event, couldn't keep pace with the other anchor men.

Art Wilson ran the opening 440-yard leg for East Stroudsburg. He broke the school record for the distance with a 49.7 seconds clocking.

Lou Murdoch and Russ Hopewell ran the middle 220-yards sprints in duplicate clockings of 22.7 seconds.

Brown's winning time was 3:34.7 while East Stroudsburg posted a 3:53.1 clocking.

Pensyl Named Top Athlete At E' Town

ELIZABETHTOWN, Pa. — A Portland student—Bill Pensyl—has been selected as the Outstanding Senior Male Athlete this year at Elizabethtown College.

Pensyl, a 1955 graduate of East Stroudsburg High School, won the honor as a result of his performance with the Blue Jay basketball team over the past four years.

Regarded as one of the top players ever to represent Elizabethtown on the court, the 6'4" Pensyl scored 1,372 points during his four years of varsity basketball competition.

His coach, Donald P. Smith, referred to him as the "best big man I've ever coached" when he presented the trophy to Pensyl at the recent Varsity E Awards Dinner sponsored by the College.

Court Honors

Pensyl was named to the ECAC (Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference) All-Star team and earned an honorable mention on the Associated Press Little All-America squad during the 1958-59 season.

As the catcher on the Jays baseball team, he batted .317 last year as Eliza bethtown took the District 30 (Pennsylvania) championship of the NAIA (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics). He is hitting at a .333 clip in the early games this season.

Pensyl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Pensyl Jr., Portland. He is preparing for a teaching career at Elizabethtown.

Whitehall Too Much For Stroudsburg Says Coach

"ON our best day we couldn't have beaten that club," Stroud Union High School coach Jerry Stulgaitus said after the Mountaineers dropped a 7-1 decision to Whitehall on the road Saturday.

"Our boys hit the ball well but Whitehall was flagging down balls that most high school players couldn't touch," Stulgaitus continued. The Mounties managed only five hits off winner Dennis Yalday at Lehigh.

Loney, who has been out for the squad only a week, has impressed Stulgaitus, but needs experience. "Loney may be a year away," says Stulgaitus, "but he has a good motion and should help the club."

John Martin, termed the team's "best defensive outfielder," by Stulgaitus, has been dropped from the squad for disciplinary reasons. The Mountaineers share the last place in the eight team loop with Emmaus and Slatington, but says Stulgaitus, "we're a spoiler and we're going to turn a lot of teams."

Stulgaitus did not score until the last inning when Dick Metzgar tripped and scored on an error, the only one the Zephyrs committed.

Picked Zephyrs — "I picked Whitehall to win the league at the beginning of the year," said Stulgaitus, "and I still believe they will do it."

Saturday's tie moved Whitehall into a tie for the Lehigh Valley lead with Lehigh and Northampton. The three teams have 3-1 records.

Bill Werkheiser worked the first four and two-third innings for the Mountaineers, giving up eight hits and six runs, all earned.

Two Shelled — Stulgaitus had planned to use either John Carson or Bill Schoonover if Werkheiser got in trouble but Carson was hit in the knee by a ground ball early in the game and although he stayed at third base, he could not put his full weight on the injured leg.

Schoonover, who owns the Mountaineers' lone victory, tore a fingernail in beating Palmyerton Thursday and could not work Saturday.

Stulgaitus plans to use Schoonover on Wednesday at home against Slatington and pitch Warren Loney on Saturday.

Weak Hitting Keeps E-Burg In Basement Of L-N League

EAST Stroudsburg High School, loser of three straight Lehigh-Northampton League games, will have to develop a batting attack in a hurry, if it hopes to leave the loop cellar.

The Cavaliers latest loss was a 5-0 setback by Coplay Saturday on the Wildcat's field.

Dale Miller threw a two-hitter at the Cavaliers, striking out 17 along the way. He wiffed the side in the first, fourth, fifth and sixth innings.

Run Drought — East Stroudsburg has now gone 13 innings without a run and has generated only five hits in the last two games.

Thursday, Pen Argyl's Tom Roberts threw a no-hitter at the locals, taking over in the first inning with no outs. East Stroudsburg had scored four runs on three hits in the first against starter Dennis Voorhees.

Joe Steele got two hits for East Stroudsburg Saturday, both of the infield variety. Miller did not allow a ball out of the infield.

No Earned Runs — Harold Myers went the distance for East Stroudsburg, giving up seven hits and five runs, all unearned. He struck out seven and walked three.

Six Cavalier errors accounted for all the runs. Coplay scored three in the fourth, when Russ Sommers singled and went to third on an error. Miller walked and Jerry Blett laid down a Space Queens, winner of the second half meet Brickies, first held champs Thursday in a roll-off for league title.

Monroe Classic

Eagles "A" swept six straight games to whip Al Bessecker's Diner, 2951-2510, for the league championship. Title was decided on total pins.

Jake Nittel rolled the high single 246 and top three game set, 679, in the two day event. The Diner club did not produce a 600 match and managed only one 200 plus game in the first three games.

Dick Lessig's 581 was high Diner triple, and his 214 the best singleton.

Dear Abby

It's Thought That Counts

Dear Abby: I am tired of hearing mothers complain about how "commercialized" Mother's Day has become.

Some mothers are so ungracious as to tell their children, "Don't give me any presents, I don't need anything."

If mothers used their heads, they would realize that their children want to honor them with a special gift on this day. Please say something to those thoughtless mothers who discourage their children from buying them a gift on Mother's Day.

LIKES PRESENTS

Dear Likes: When a mother says she doesn't "need" any presents, she does not mean to be "ungracious". She doesn't want her child to deprive himself of anything to buy her a gift.

An original poem or letter costs nothing and is cherished most. When I was a child, I heard those words from my own dear mother. I wrote her little poems and "essays" on Mother's Day telling her how much I appreciated her. Only after she passed away did I realize how much they had meant to her. She had kept them all.

Dear Abby: I am ten and I can't figure this out. How come there is a Mother's Day and everybody buys gifts and makes a big fuss over mothers and the same things happens to fathers on Father's Day, but there isn't any Children's Day?

WONDERING

Dear Wondering: Children's Day is the longest celebration

Band, Choral Concert Set

The concert will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Honesdale High School Auditorium.

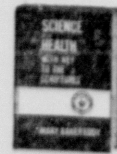

SWJS students participating are Jill Smith, Mary Dugan, Rita Robacker, Bonnie Rohrbach, Shirley Strada, and Jane Beehn, sopranos; Judy Staph, Jane Rigby, Judy Cramer, Christine Lanuti, altos; William Smith, Gerald McLain, Thomas Duty, Arthur Rigby, and James Hinton, tenors; and Robert Strupcowski and Robert Duty, bass.

Accidently Shot

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Donald Crantshaw, 26, of Philadelphia, fatally shot himself Saturday by accident.

Police said Crantshaw, a busboy at the Union League, fired a .25 calibre automatic at his right temple after telling a friend it wasn't loaded.

How can I find peace of mind?

of the year. It begins Jan. 1st and ends Dec. 31st.

This was written on Mother's Day, in tribute to his Mother, by a young prisoner who was awaiting execution in San Quentin prison.

"A crime was committed and there was an arrest, and a boy was thrown into a cell. The crime was great, the boy was young and the cell was dark. Life seemed at an end and hell became a living thing."

"Then one day as the boy sat weeping in his cell, he looked up to see his mother. She was smiling. She opened her arms and said, 'My boy, did you think I would not come to you?' And suddenly the boy forgot his terror and found comfort in the magic circle of his mother's arms."

"Through the dark that shrouded the hill of Calvary, a voice cried, 'Son, behold thy mother'. And Mary knelt at the foot of the cross. That was a cross of glory, but had it been one of shame, Mary would have been there."

"For every son who crucifies himself on pillars of hate, weakness and greed, there at the foot of the cross you will find his mother. Your mother and mine, God bless them, here and beyond. They have known so much pain."

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want To Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.
